EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Creating an authentic learning experience requires us to design a culture which consists of the elements of mythology, art, and ritual.

EXPERIENCE

The highest form of learning is learning from the senses and from the immersion in the environment

CULTURE

The experience of an idea is called the culture.

M*A*R

Culture consists of three components that can be experienced and participated in.

“The role of a creative leader is not to have all the ideas; it's to create a culture where everyone can have ideas and feel that they're valued”

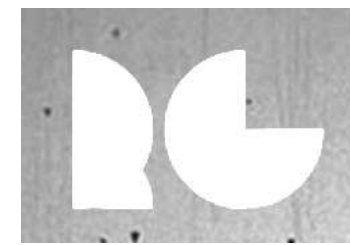

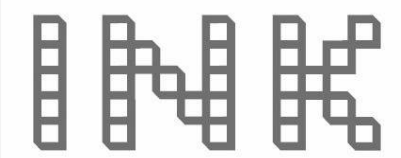

Ken Robinson

A LITTLE BIT OF HISTORY

Raghava KK and Netra Srikanth have a strong background in alternative and progressive education. They have advised, given workshops, and created curriculum for some of the leading schools and alternative education programs. In 2013, they co-founded Flipsicle, a visual-literacy based tech incubator.

They are the parents of four children.
who attend an alternative free-democratic school.

Since time immemorial, every successful community has been able to integrate three important elements to build strong culture -- story & myth, art & design, and habits & rituals. These allow its members to participate in the value system and stay close.

MYTH

Your story

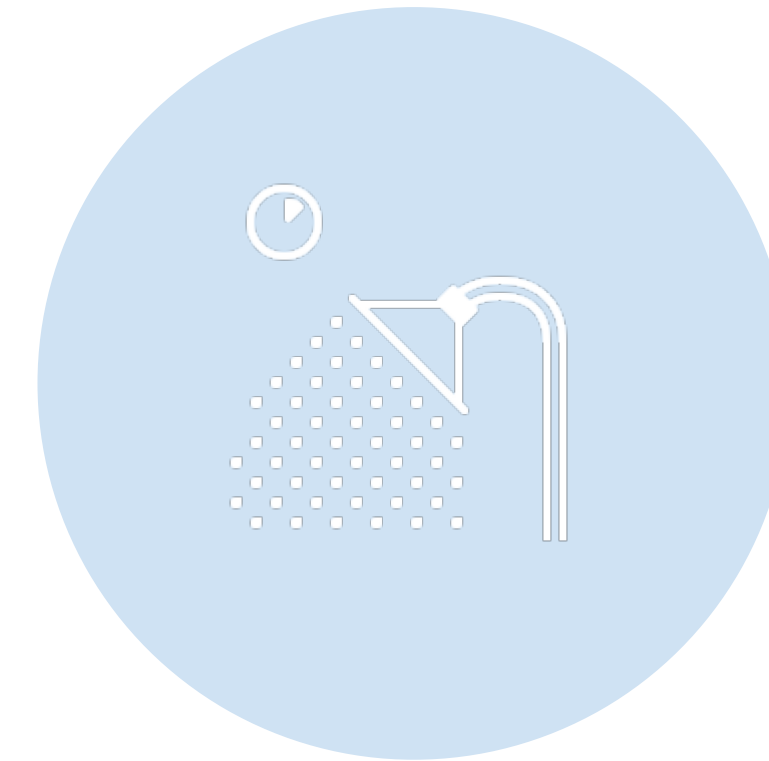

A good mythology generates strong empathy. It makes its members take ownership of the journey.

ART

Your Reinforcement

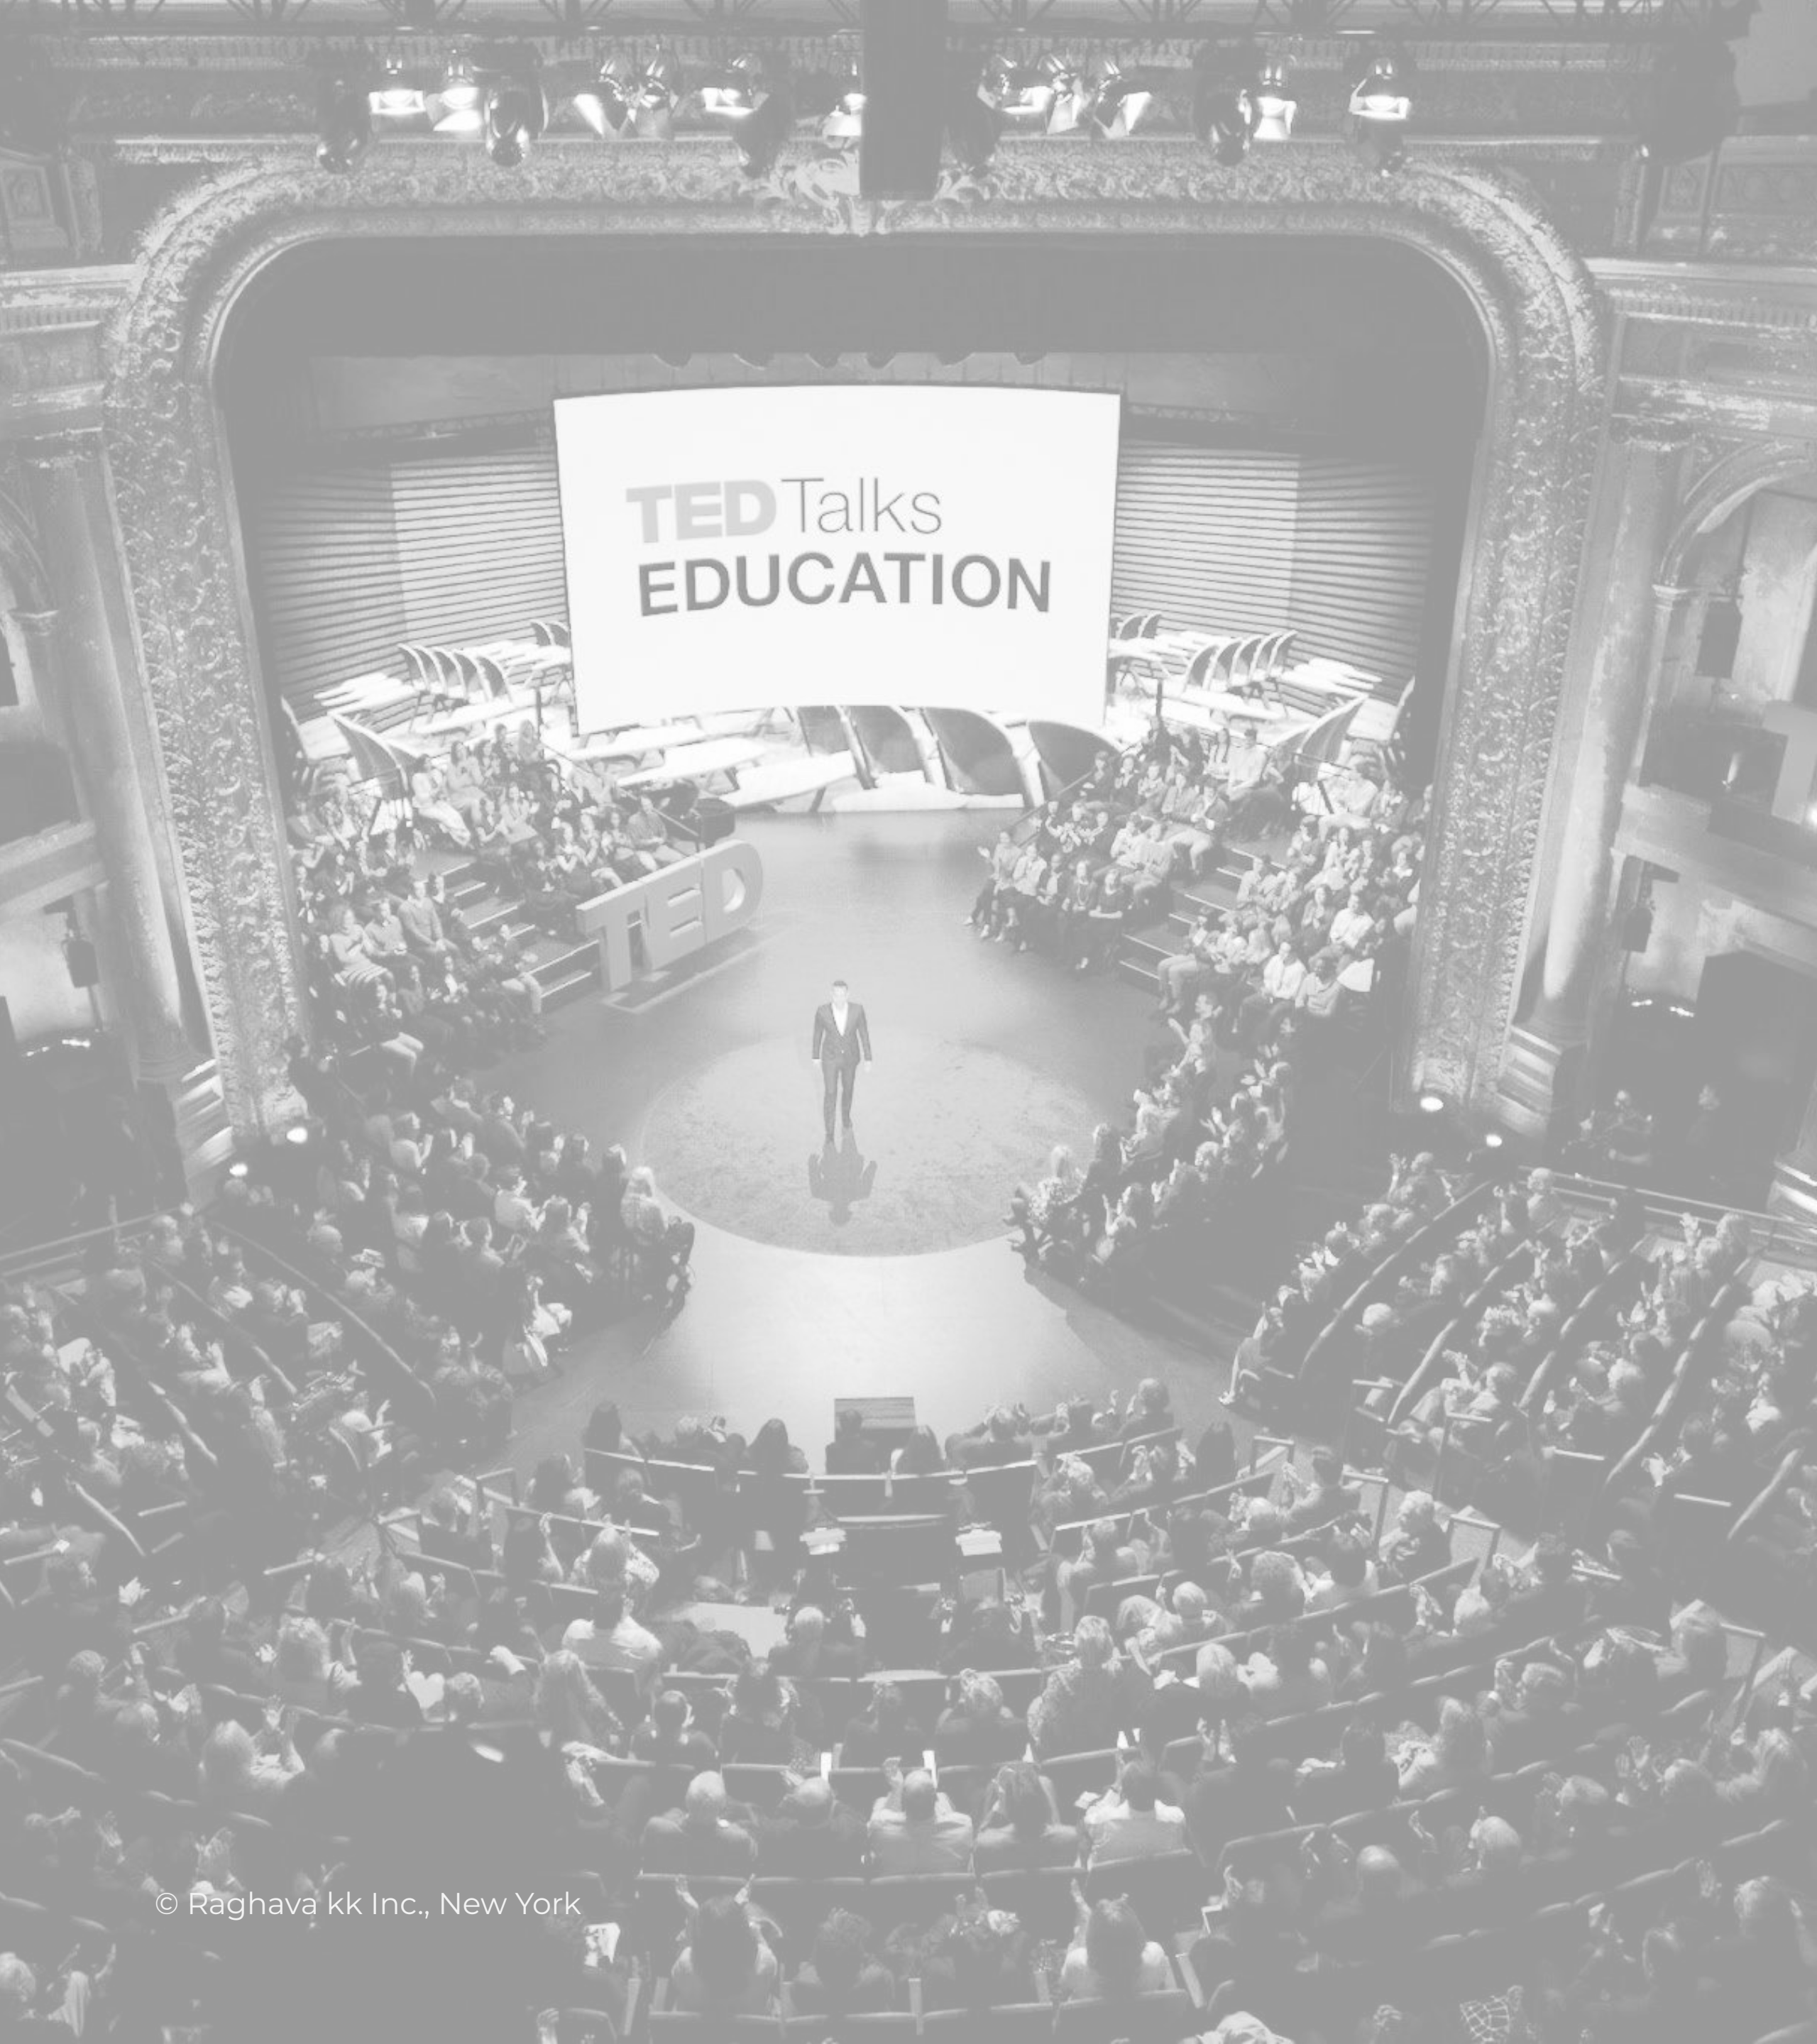

Serves as a daily visceral reminder and reinforcement of what everyone is working towards.

RITUAL

Your Habits

Experience through design
Rituals allow you to bring your mythology to life for your people through participation in designed experiences.

GIT-HUB

MYTH

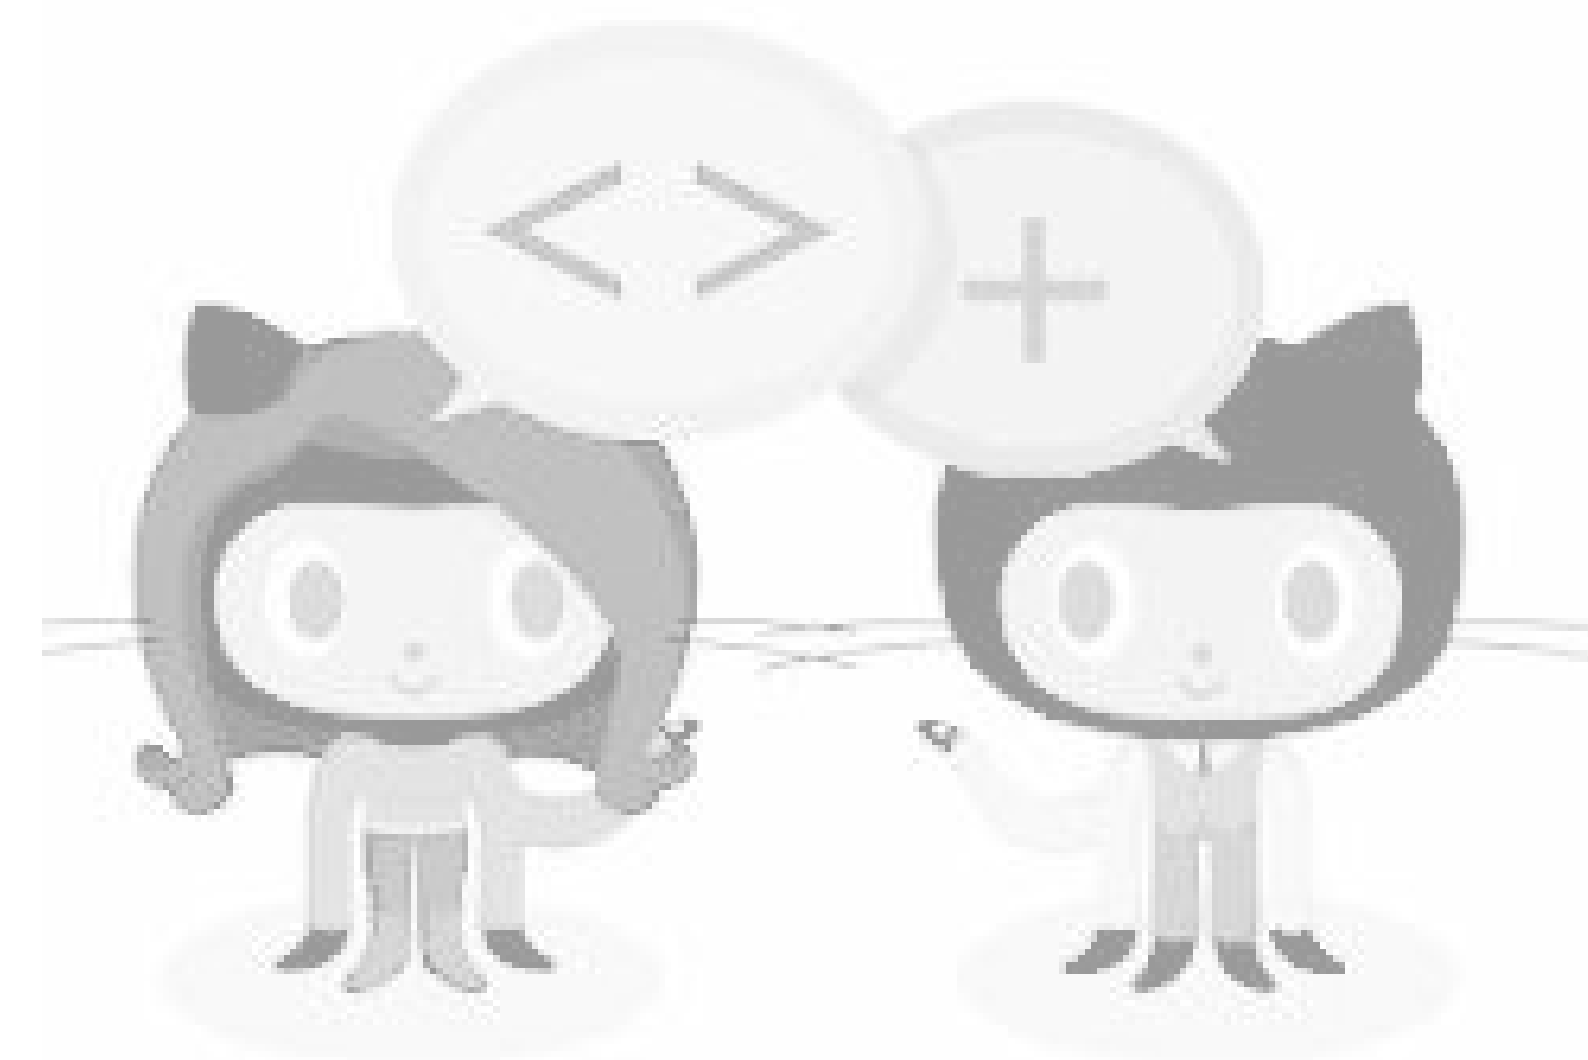

Be nice and do good by open-sourcing. Content is atomic. Content has no history or structure. Photographing someone does not cause their soul to be stolen. Similarly, cloning the master repository does not diminish its importance.

ART

Fork and pull model of collaboration. GitFlow.
Language, code of ethics (bible)

RITUAL

The Forked code- Make someone's code better. The gentle bump. Secrets, secrets, are no fun - no email, all open chat with cross reference links. Pull requests are community property. GitHub's collaboration culture is built on a foundation of emoji and animated GIFs. Don't ping, just ask. Engineers hire git-hub engineers.

RADICALLY NEW!!!

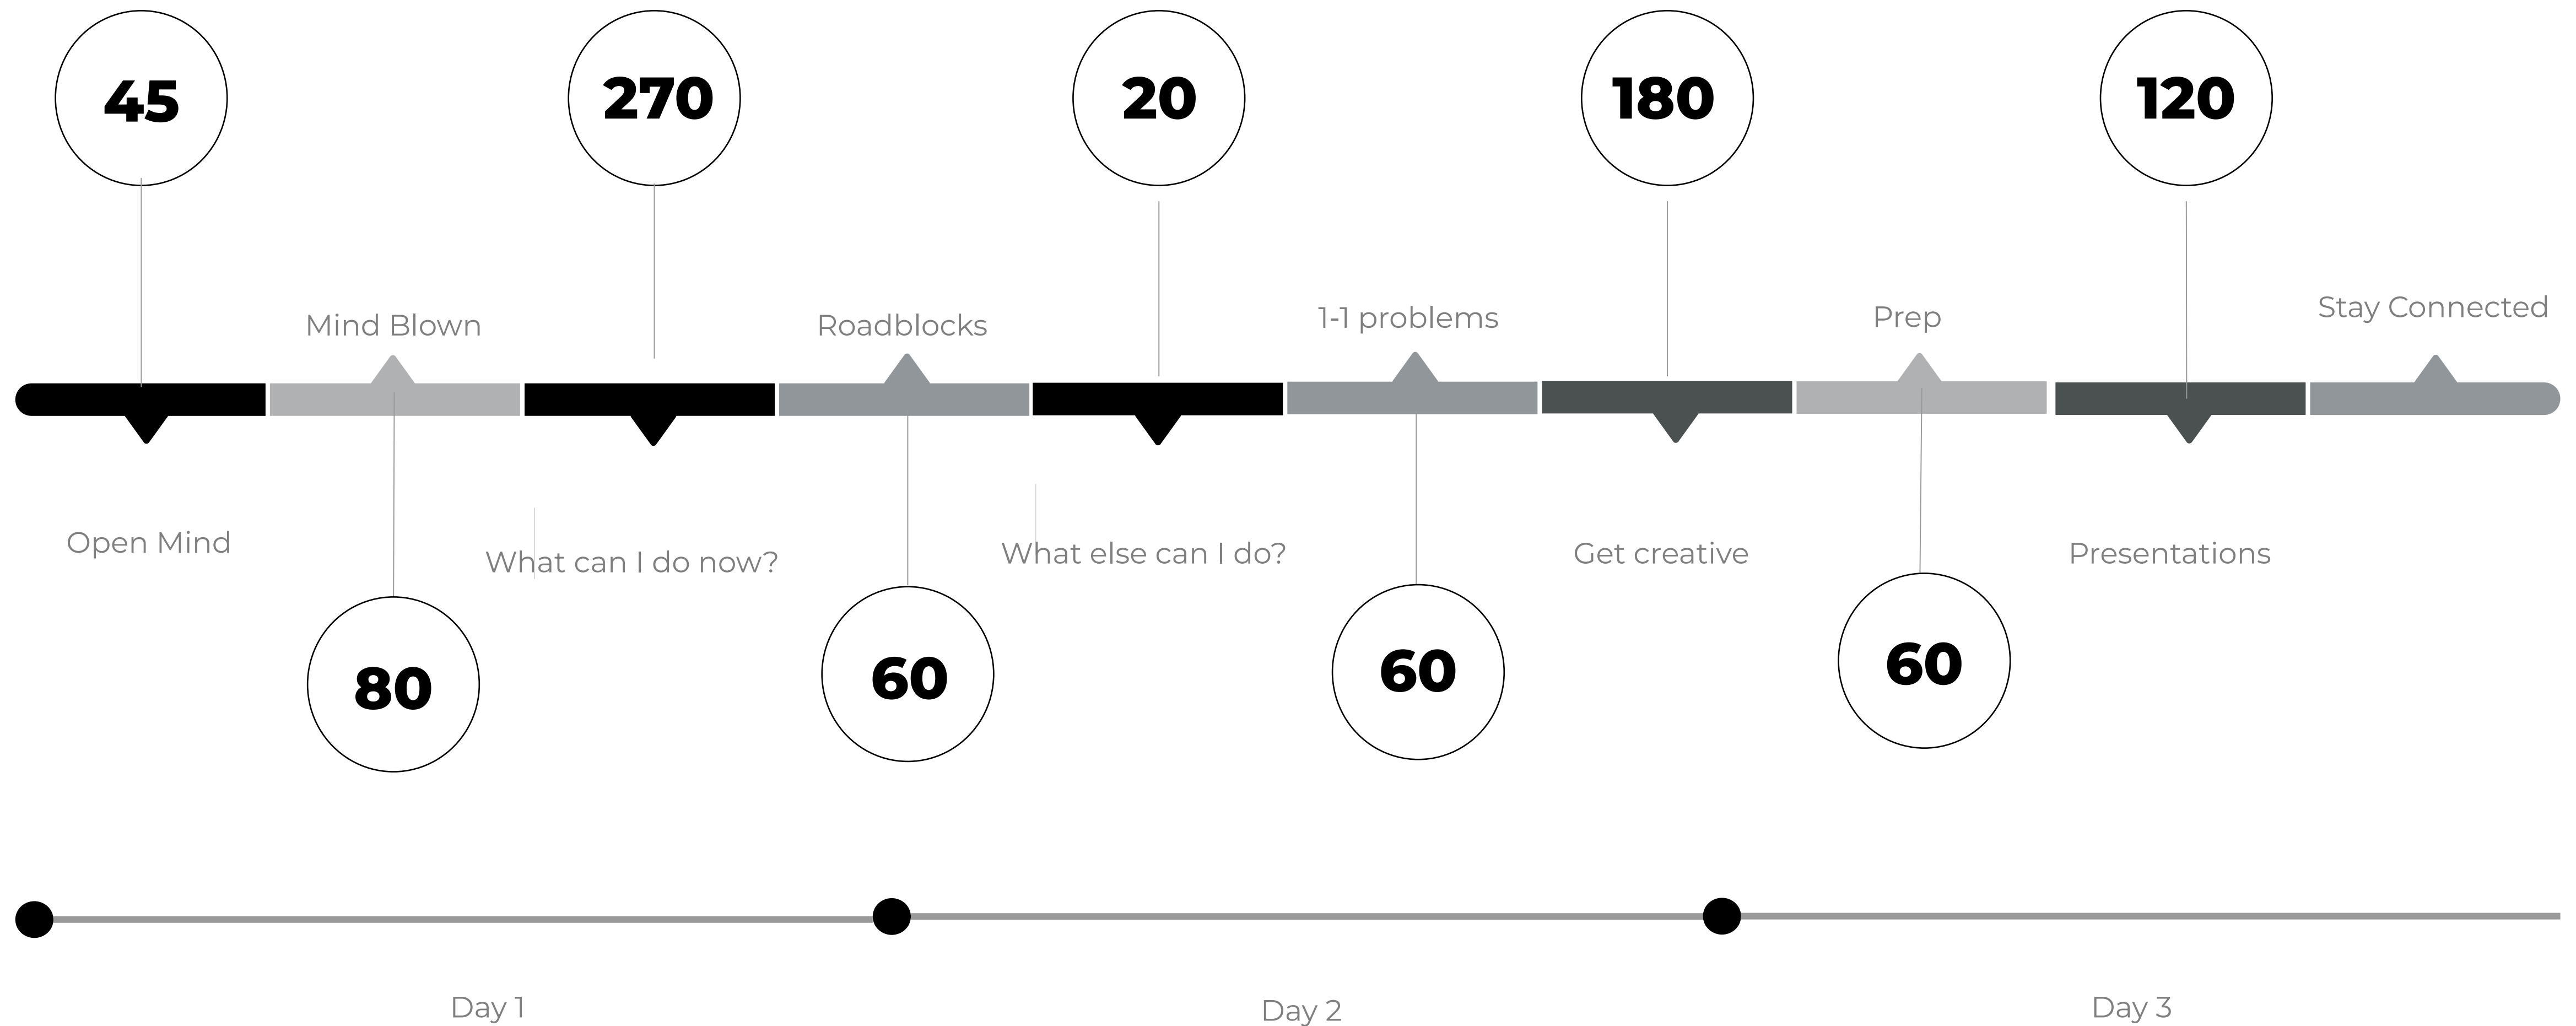

There are schools around the world that have made a paradigm shift and completely re-defined education. From Gakko, a Japanese teacher-focused experiential pedagogy model, to the Green School in Bali, a school focused on teaching through the local environment, culture, and traditions, to the free-democratic Sudbury model and the studio-style collaborative making of NuVu Studio.

We will explore each of these radical education programs in-depth and understand how they are equipping their students to live, work, and thrive in the creative age.
