

Implications of Painting as body.

1) ~~A painting~~ An encounter (with a painting) is like an encounter with a person.

2) the painting has body and spirit

3) I'm interested in 3 of their 4 relationships.

- body as body

- body as spirit

- ~~body~~ spirit as body.

- I'm not that interested in spirit as spirit, as it can not be put to any use. (?)

4) Each relationship has its +ve's and -ve's.

As a pragmatist, each of these relationships have different 'cash' value depending on circumstance.

5) Given ^{my and} our particular circumstance, he created a body of artworks.

Idea as Idea. (not productive 4 me)

Absolutists →

- 1) can never derive ^{true} value from it
- 2) Very little involvement of the senses
(Especially when I feel that we are feeling beings that think)

My stand → is to reject indulging in idea as idea → anti-conceptual →
anti realist approach.

Material as Material.

I'm very excited to revisit the physicality
of the materials that I use.

My stand → move away from painting as image → painting as object.

Experiment ideas.

- 1) Mirrors:
- every object is mirrored. → every stroke is countered.
 - half a canvas → reflecting
 - A work that works both ways.
 - make a monoprint out of a painting.

- 2) See itself - spikes that turn in on themselves

- two works opposite each other.
- ~~two works~~ C-shaped canvas.

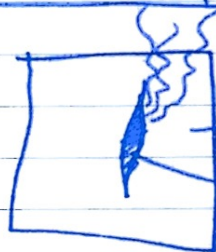

Introspect!

- Breaks it up into its parts and analyse them. (shapes, colors etc.)

- The edges only interact.

- 3) spirit escaping the canvas.

- colored vapor.

1) the idea of materials → oils inherent ideas:

- oils resist
- oils create skin etc.

Value ⇒ Reduce friction (idea → art)
· involve more senses
· ~~etc~~ creates active participation from viewer.

2) the materials of idea →

- materials can be organised to express an idea. Ideas can also be illustrated through materials.
- Ideas can never be materials
- Ideas can only be experienced through materials
- Materials can never exist without ideas. (things are also kinds)
- materials can hold ideas

Value: ⇒ Acknowledge the fact that things are not just things. (anti-reductionist)

⇒ Experience new ideas → feel vital new realities.

ideas ← BODY → realities

for me (essence)
The Body is both spirit and matter:
^

Body as spirit

Body as matter

matter as spirit

spirit as matter

PAINTING = SUBJECT + OBJECT.

Painting = Essence/Idea + Material
= Idea of material.
material of Idea.

Idea X material.

the idea of materials → oils (inherent ideas in oil)
the materials of ideas →
